

Terms of Use

These terms govern your use of the InnerWorld: Virtual Reality for Psychosocial Support (VRPS) project website and any pages we operate under the project name. By using the site, you agree to these terms. If you do not agree, please do not use the site.

The website is operated by Ankara Bilim Üniversitesi (Türkiye), on behalf of the InnerWorld consortium.

Who we are and how to contact us

We are a non-profit consortium delivering a KA210 project within the Erasmus+ framework, with partners in Bulgaria, France, and Türkiye. For website enquiries, write to info@ankarabilim.edu.tr. For privacy questions, please see our Privacy Policy. For notices about allegedly illegal content under EU law, use the “Report content” address provided in the section titled Notices about illegal content.

As an EU-facing online service, we publish basic provider identification details on this page, including our legal name, geographic address, and an email address for rapid contact, as required by EU law. (EUR-Lex)

Scope and acceptance

These terms apply to your use of the public website, including any forms, downloads, and event pages. Additional terms may apply to specific tools or services that we link from the site; those services will provide their own terms.

By accessing or using the site, you represent that you are able to form a binding agreement with us, or that you use the site with the consent and supervision of a parent or legal guardian where required by law.

What this site does and does not do

The site provides project information, learning resources, and updates. It is not a clinical service and does not provide medical, psychological, or crisis care. For urgent support, contact local emergency services or a qualified professional. Any educational materials are provided for general information only.

Your responsibilities

Use the site lawfully and respectfully. Do not attempt to undermine the security or proper functioning of the site, do not infringe others' intellectual property or privacy, and do not use the site to post or transmit anything unlawful, harmful, hateful, or misleading.

Acceptable use

We keep this list short and clear. You agree not to:

- break the law or encourage others to do so
- infringe intellectual property or privacy rights
- harass, threaten, or discriminate against others
- upload malware, attempt to gain unauthorised access, or interfere with the site
- use automated means to scrape or overload the site
- misrepresent your identity or affiliation

Intellectual property

Unless marked otherwise, the website and its original text, graphics, logos, and other materials are owned by the project operator or used with permission. All rights are reserved under EU copyright law. Where a page states that a resource is offered under a Creative Commons or similar licence, that licence governs your use of that specific resource. EU law harmonises core rights and exceptions, including for online uses; please respect any licence notices you see. (EUR-Lex)

You may link to our pages in a fair and non-misleading way. Do not use our logos or wordmarks without written permission. The EU emblem may appear on this site to acknowledge funding; its use is governed by the European Commission's rules and cannot suggest EU endorsement of any specific content here. (European Commission)

Third-party links and embeds

Our site may link to or embed third-party services (for example, videos or mapping tools). Those providers operate under their own terms and policies. We are not responsible for their content or practices.

Notices about illegal content (EU Digital Services Act)

If you believe content on this site is illegal under EU or national law, please send a notice to: info@ankarabilim.edu.tr. Use the subject line "DSA Notice". To help us act diligently and non-arbitrarily, include:

- a clear explanation of why you consider the content illegal, with legal references if you have them
- the exact location (full URL) of each specific item you report
- your name and contact details for follow-up
- a good-faith statement that the information in your notice is accurate

We will confirm receipt when possible, take appropriate action in a timely manner, and notify you of our decision with information about any available redress mechanisms, consistent with the Digital Services Act requirements for hosting services. (EUR-Lex)

A separate email address for public authorities is available on request as a point of contact. (EUR-Lex)

Liability and warranties

The site is provided “as is” and “as available.” We try to keep information accurate and up to date, but we do not guarantee that the site will be uninterrupted, error-free, or free of harmful components.

To the maximum extent permitted by law, we exclude liability for indirect or consequential loss arising from your use of the site. Nothing in these terms limits liability where it would be unlawful to do so, including liability for death or personal injury resulting from negligence, for fraud, or for gross negligence. If you are a consumer, your statutory rights are not affected.

Where we provide an information society service that involves storing information at a user’s request (for example, if public comments are enabled), EU law limits provider liability for that content when we lack actual knowledge of illegality and act expeditiously upon notice; there is no general duty to monitor. (EUR-Lex)

Changes to the site and these terms

We may change or discontinue features without notice. We may update these terms from time to time. When changes are material, we will post an updated version with a new effective date.

Governing law and jurisdiction

Please select a governing law that reflects where the website operator is established within the EU, and a competent court for disputes. If you use the site as a consumer and you reside in the EU, you may also benefit from mandatory protections of your country of residence.

If we later sell goods or services online to EU consumers, we will, where applicable, provide the link to the EU Online Dispute Resolution platform and related information as required by Regulation (EU) No 524/2013. At present, we do not offer consumer sales through this site. (EUR-Lex)

EU funding acknowledgment

This website relates to an EU-funded Erasmus+ project. You will see the EU emblem and a funding statement on certain pages. Use of the emblem follows the Commission’s guidance and does not imply that the EU endorses specific content. (European Commission)

Language and interpretation

These terms are published in English. Translations may be provided for convenience. If a translation conflicts with the English text, the English text prevails to the extent permitted by law.

Miscellaneous

If any provision is held invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions remain in effect. No waiver of any term is a continuing waiver. You may not assign your rights or obligations under these terms without our prior written consent.
